ACRYLIC PAINT POURING ON CANVAS

Join us for our next DoArt Painting Party on Wednesday, May 16th from 7-9pm and let gravity paint your picture for you! Under the guidance of artist Ruth Bailey, you'll learn this process and have fun doing it! With fluid acrylic paint pouring, different colors of paint are poured into a cup and then poured onto a canvas to make a large runny puddle of colors. Because of the different densities of pigments, the colors don't mix together much but remain in layers of separate colors. Gently tipping the canvas will cause the paint to flow over the surface and down the edges, exposing different layers of color and creating a marbled design. Cells of color may rise through other colors and make lacy designs on the surface. The colors you choose and the manner in which you manipulate the flow make your creation unique.

This process is fun, but can be a little messy. Clothes that you don't mind getting paint on are a must. Join us for a great evening of art!

$35 registration fee includes expert instruction, all art materials, desserts, and complimentary bar drink. Cash bar also available.
